

As this week is World Mental Health Day, it reminded me of this painting, which holds significant value to me. ❤️
😊

Displayed at NIMHANS HERITAGE MUSEUM

This painting holds immense personal significance for me. Finally all my hard work paid off. Looking forward for making more paintings like this in the near future.

I can see that my dream of combining psychology with painting has started to unfold. ❤️
😊

